HomeAdvisor and Handy Announce Expansive Partnership with Nextdoor

September 24, 2019

Partnership Seamlessly Brings HomeAdvisor and Handy Pros to Nextdoor Members Looking for Home Help

DENVER, Sept. 24, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- ANGI Homeservices, a global leader in home services, announced a partnership for their brands HomeAdvisor and Handy with Nextdoor, the world's largest social network for the neighborhood. With this new partnership, homeowners on Nextdoor will now have the option to find and book one of HomeAdvisor and Handy's vetted and highly-rated local home service professionals when they are searching for local service recommendations. The feature will be available in all of Nextdoor's U.S. neighborhoods.

Nextdoor members in the U.S. will now be able to find and book available HomeAdvisor professionals for the specific tasks they are looking for, all from within Nextdoor.

In the last year, tens of millions of homeowners across the country turned to HomeAdvisor and Handy to book quality home service pros across 500 different categories, from repairing and remodeling to cleaning and landscaping. Approximately 20 percent of posts on Nextdoor are around recommendations for local services like plumbing, housecleaning, remodeling and furniture assembly. Nextdoor members have made more than 40 million such recommendations, with that number growing by 70% in the last year. Bringing HomeAdvisor and Handy's network of over 250,000 vetted and rated local home pros to homeowners looking for recommendations on Nextdoor allows more of their members access to a frustration-free way to find and hire available pros.

With the new integration, Nextdoor members will now have the option to book one of HomeAdvisor and Handy's vetted top-rated home service professionals when they search for local service recommendations. This is the first partnership that brings together both HomeAdvisor and Handy's business offerings, something that only ANGI Homeservices can provide. By partnering with Nextdoor, HomeAdvisor and Handy can continue to meet more consumers where they are, challenging traditional word-of-mouth referrals and providing an enhanced and integrated customer experience.

"The most common way consumers discover pros is by asking a neighbor and these recommendations are increasingly happening online," said Brandon Ridenour, CEO of ANGI Homeservices. "This partnership gives homeowners on Nextdoor instant access to service providers from HomeAdvisor and Handy, enabling them to get the job done quickly and easily. We are thrilled to partner with Nextdoor, who is helping us bring our local pros to even more homeowners and advancing our goal of making home care effortless. We plan to meet homeowners wherever these needs arise, and in the future you can expect to find the HomeAdvisor and Handy networks powering home services in even more places."
